Dear Valued Distributor,

TE Connectivity (TE) extends our heartfelt condolences to those in and around Japan during this difficult time. Thankfully all of our employees have been accounted for and are safe. Our facilities in Japan had minimal damage and are operational.

In the coming days, we will continue to monitor the news coverage and receive frequent reports from TE leadership in Japan about our employees, suppliers and customers. As of now, only a limited number of our products are impacted by supply chain issues caused by the tragedy. If your products or delivery are affected, you will be contacted by your sales representative with further details.

Your patience and support during this time is greatly appreciated.

Thank you and best regards,

Dave Redfern
