Heilind Electronics Adds Sullins Connector Solutions to the World's Largest Interconnect Inventory

WILMINGTON, Mass., Feb. 4 /PRNewswire/ -- Heilind Electronics, the world's largest distributor of interconnect products, announces the broadening of its Sullins Connector Solutions inventory with Sullins' Hi-Temp Headers and Edgecard Connectors. Intended for high-density, high-temperature applications where board spacing and total weight are factors, Sullins' Hi-Temp card edge connectors and headers support operating temperatures ranging from -65 degrees C to +250 degrees C. They are ideal for a wide array of consumer, industrial, and commercial applications including test equipment, burn-in ovens, communications equipment, medical instrumentation, power converters & power supplies, and aerospace & automotive systems. This latest stocking package enhances Heilind's already broad portfolio of Sullins standard and custom edgecards, headers, bi-level and CompactPCI™ connectors. For more information, visit the Heilind Electronics website at <http://www.heilind.com/products/sullins/> or call (888)-411-3672.
